Introduction Sheet: ORBICON

Orbicon A/S is a Northern European engineering consultancy, who provides consultancy services within environment, building and construction, utility supply, climate adaption and sustainability. As a consultant, we create global solutions to local problems. We create long-term sustainable solutions in close collaboration with customers and partners.

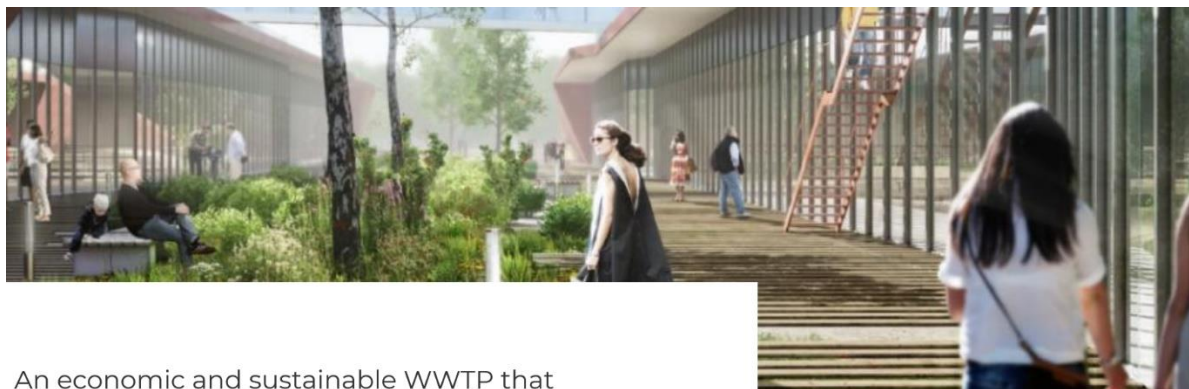

WHAT WE DO

At Orbicon, we are concerned with the big challenges facing the world. Climate change, urbanization, and clean and sufficient water are just some of the challenges that we take on with passionate conviction. And we offer expertise in a broad selection of areas. From creating a new reed bed system for sludge treatment to improving national water data management through the Orbicon-developed software HYMER.

The common denominator is sustainable solutions that add value to our customers, partners and the surrounding society, locally and globally. We create solutions to complex problems in close dialogue with our customers – and believe this helps us make a better tomorrow.

STRATEGIC PARTNERS

At Orbicon, we always strive to be the best choice for our clients. We have therefore developed strategic partnerships with leading organisations from around the globe. Through our partnerships, we reach an even deeper understanding of the challenges and opportunities our global clients face. We further gain important insights into the legal and technical requirements of the markets in which we operate.
